

Support Program

2021-2022 - Version 2.0

Program Overview

AbelCare is a support program for all types of production and broadcast customers that combines a full range of equipment maintenance, frontline tech support, integrated services, production services and education, with additional support benefits when and where you need them most.

AbelCare is structured as a flexible spending program, offered in one to three year terms. As a member, you receive program services at pre-discounted rates and can choose the membership level that best meets the degree of support you require.

Not only does this allow you to budget for your service and training in advance, but AbelCare also offers you the peace of mind of knowing you're covered regardless of what unforeseen support needs may arise.

Program Benefit

With your enrollment in AbelCare, you'll receive, at no additional cost, real-world benefits that ensure you're always supported as promptly and efficiently as possible. The higher the membership level, the greater the discount rate and benefits package.

As a program member, you can use any combination of qualifying training and support services at any point throughout the length of your agreement, in which case, your AbelCare account will be debited by the amount of that specific service. If your AbelCare account is exhausted before the program term is up, you can choose to re-enroll or not. Either way, your program benefits will remain in effect for the length of the term.
